Concern over possible new CD funding rules

Madison County officials flew to Washington, D.C., late Thursday to protest federal rule changes that would eliminate Madison County as a direct recipient of Community Development funds.

The changes made by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) are slated to become effective October, 1985.

Under the new regulations, the county would no longer qualify for the Community Development funds. Townships also would lose their chance to receive those monies. Cities such as Madison and Venice would still be able to apply individually for Community Development funding, but would be thrown into competition with other municipalities across the state.

Larger cities, including Granite City and Alton, would become entitlement cities, making them direct recipients of annual Community Development. At stake for the two cities is a possible extra grant work load and the need for additional personnel to take care of their own grant programs. A county-wide issue is the possible loss of funds for surrounding townships and cities, which have been accustomed to CD funds regularly coming into those communities.

Mrs. Kane took that message with her to a Washington, D.C., meeting Friday with HUD officials. Cheryl Joutel, county Community Development director accompanied Mrs. Kane. At the meeting to support the county officials were representatives of Senators Charles H. Percy and Alan J. Dixon and U.S. Representatives Melvin Price and Paul Simon.

These federal lawmakers are expected to take legislative measures to allow the county to continue its eligibility. A spokesman for Sen. Percy's office said Friday that the HUD officials indicated that under current regulations, they cannot allow the county's eligibility status to continue past 1985. The spokesman affirmed Percy's intentions.

Hopes voiced as final weeks of GC school pay talks begin

By BILL WINTER

With the arrival of August, increasing public attention is being directed toward negotiations in the Granite City school system. First 1983-84 classes for students are scheduled on Tuesday, Aug. 23.

Talks between Local 743, American Federation of Teachers, and the School District Nine bargaining team have been in progress since spring and are continuing.

During the negotiations, both parties traditionally say little or nothing publicly about the progress. Mrs.

Shirley Stoll, Federation president, said Friday she is hopeful regarding the talks but that it is still too early to know whether they will be successful.

The present agreement expires Aug. 14. A new pact would be effective Aug. 15.

Since the Board of Education reduced most administrators' pay by 10 percent, effective July 1, 1983, there has been widespread speculation that a salary reduction for teachers might emerge from the negotiations. Neither side has commented on this prospect.

With six of the 18 school buildings closed and the average class size increased, speculation also has centered on a possible relationship between future pay levels, the number of pupils per class and the number of instructional jobs.

In a series of advertisements in recent months, Local 743 has emphasized its belief that class size has a direct impact on teaching effectiveness and children's learning.

With the state budget not adopted until early July, and the school district converting to a new computer record and payment system July 1, financial data affecting the negotiations has only recently begun to emerge in sharp focus.

Mrs. Stoll said a yearly audit is being awaited.

Teachers note that state aid to Granite City public schools is increasing despite enrollment reductions. Administrators caution that a revenue-spending deficiency that led to the six school closings was not fully resolved by the cutbacks this summer. The district remains in debt and also has yet to balance its income and outgo.

The former South High School will serve all ninth through twelfth graders this year.

Seventh and eighth grade students will attend Coolidge and Grigby junior high schools.

Prather, until now a junior high school, will accommodate kindergarten through sixth graders, as will Frohman, Marshall, Maryville, Mitchell, Niedringhaus, Parkview, Webster and Wilson.

Support for 2nd river lock

Key support has been obtained to provide funds for a second lock at the site of the new Mississippi River dam, U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy announced today.

A replacement dam and lock are being constructed two miles south of the present Alton Locks and Dam 26.

A second lock has been urged as a safety factor—during times of damage or maintenance at the main lock—and to enhance the river's shipping capacity. It was omitted initially due to budget constraints.

Sen. Percy has been in contact this summer with Sen. James Abdnor, chairman of the Water Resources Subcommittee.

The latter said late last week he will support $180 million in authorizations for environmental features of the Upper Mississippi River master plan and $250 million for construction of a second new river lock here.

Annual appropriations legislation is scheduled to be marked up tomorrow in the Senate, Sen. Percy noted. Backing by the subcommittee chairman is considered to be of crucial importance.

The age and limited size of the existing Alton locks have been blamed for hazards and long delays experienced by vessels in seeking to go up or down the Mississippi.

Heat warnings are reactivated

As the temperatures began to rise beyond the 100-degree mark Thursday, the need to reopen heat relief stations throughout the area to aid those with health problems and heat stress became a necessity.

This is the third heat warning this summer and there apparently is no relief in sight. Humidity reached its highest point on Saturday at 56 percent but was 46 percent at 4 p.m. Sunday. According to the National Weather Service in St. Louis, the temperatures are expected to continue in the 90s through at least Friday.

Efforts are being made to inform people how to try and stay cool in the hot weather. If a house does not have air conditioning, it is suggested the residents go to places near their homes, such as shopping centers, libraries or other public buildings to get cool. They also are advised to drink plenty of non-alcoholic beverages.

Wearing loose-fitting and light-colored clothing and using hats and umbrellas when in the sun are other suggestions. Persons subjected to the heat are being advised to eat light meals of cold foods and avoid ingesting too much salt, unless advised to do so by a doctor. Also, cool baths and showers help reduce body temperature. Heavy exertion should be avoided.

The heat relief center in Granite City is at the Salvation Army, 3007 E. 23rd St. and those who wish to visit the center are being advised to call 451-7967 or Jim Shields at 451-7942. If there is no answer, persons in need may call the Granite City Police Department at 877-6111 and officers will relay the message to the SA secretary, who will then open the facility, if warranted.

During the last heat alert, the Salvation Army center cared for 108 people in a four-day span and served three meals a day and cold drinks to those staying at the center. Much of the food and refreshments was donated by local merchants.

This time however, since some persons previously went to the center only for free meals and not for heat relief, Maxine Rudder, secretary for SA, said those who come for relief are to bring their own food or have a family or friend bring meals to them while staying at the Salvation Army building.

In Madison, the Madison Recreation Center at Seventh Street and Lee Avenue will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays and during the weekends those in need may call Madison Police at 476-4300.

Also, the West Madison Recreation Center at 901 W. Washington Ave. will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays and, in an emergency, residents are advised to call the police.

Venice has three relief stations: one at the Venice Recreation Center, 323 Broadway, which is open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. or call 476-6163; the McKinley Bridge office (basement), 802 Main St., from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., telephone 452-1386; and the Venice City Hall at Broadway and Klein Street, which is open 24 hours a day, if need be, telephone 877-2114.

People living outside the city limits of the three cities are being advised to call

Bi-State board approves local rate reductions

Temporary rate reductions on five county bus routes, including two in Granite City, were approved last week by the Bi-State Development Agency Board of Commissioners. A contract with Madison and St. Clair counties also was approved.

Rates on the East Granite and West Granite Stockyard bus were reduced from 75 to 50 cents. Senior citizens, children and handicapped persons will be able to ride on those routes for 25 cents. The reduced rates go into effect Aug. 15 for six months.

Bi-State officials also lifted late payment penalty costs for both Madison and St. Clair counties. Those counties will not be required to pay a late penalty if their payments are not made on time.

Q: Are certificates of deposit good investments now that interest and investment rates seem to be falling back?

A: Traditionally, certificates of deposit have had two real and solid benefits for the investor which other investment sources have not been able to offer. First, of course, is the fact that certificates of deposit are federally insured up to $100,000. As we've said many times, this point alone should make certificates of deposit very worthwhile. But, as you mentioned, rates are falling. This, of course, will also affect such investments as money market funds. Certificates of deposit, on the other hand, offer an edge when interest rates fall.

C.D.s allow you to lock into the current rates for the next few months or years for whatever the term of the certificate. These two points: Federally insured funds and constant, locked-in interest rates, make C.D.s an on-going good investment.

Three Scouts share international experiences at Canadian Jamboree

By NANCY WEILL
of the Press-Record

It may not have been the most thrilling experience of their young lives, but for three local Boy Scouts, attending the 15th World Scout Jamboree in Kananaskis Country, Alberta, Canada, surely was a memorable occasion.

Scott Wilson, 14, representing Maryville Troop 96, and Jim Friedel, 16, and Paul Miskell, 17, representing St. Elizabeth Troop 13, were among the 13,600 Scouts from 106 countries at the jamboree from July 5 to July 18.

At opening ceremonies, the three youths donned the sky blue jamboree neckerchiefs and, with the other Scouts, hoisted their respective troop colors into the air. About 700 of those who camped were girls because most countries, except the United States and Canada, have co-ed Scouting.

Wilson, Friedel and Miskell—once they started talking—had a few stories to tell about the girls who were there. Especially the Swiss girls.

"You know, in Europe they're a lot more open about sex," Miskell said with all the wisdom that being 17 can hold. "The Swiss girls would change their clothes outside the tent," he continued.

According to Friedel, the discovery of where the Swiss girls dressed took place while the Scouts were eating dinner one day. A few of the campers then got wise and started checking out the Swiss tent on a daily basis.

And why, startled readers might ask, did the Swiss girls change outside their tents instead of inside their private confines?

"Well, they had small tents," Miskell said. Simple enough, but certainly they have more memories of the jamboree. Although at first the three were hard put to come up with daring tales of their lives in the wilds of Canada, the most important point of the trip was the sheer experience of camping with so many other Scouts from different countries and diverse backgrounds.

For all three, the experience of camping in the Canadian Rockies was worth the trip. Although it was suggested that visiting Colorado is comparable, But Miskell said, "The glaciers were neat," and the others agreed.

They also had the luxury of traveling on chartered jets, but the trip there was extremely crowded, they said.

Safeguards to protect waterway freight urged

Despite the safeguards provided by the Staggers Act, the ICC has often failed to sufficiently acknowledge Section 707 safeguards in protecting against unlawful practices, said Wilson. "These transgressions by the ICC constitute a hazard to the future of the waterways industry," he said.

He called on Congress to consider whether or not specific prohibitions against recognized anti-competitive practices are needed. "The waterways industry is ready to work with the subcommittee on specific legislative remedies to correct the subversion of Congressional intent in the Staggers Act, which was to promote competition," Wilson concluded.

YOUTHS DAMAGE PARKING METERS

Two 14-year-old youths were arrested last week after they were discovered allegedly trying to break into parking meters in the 1400 block of 21st Street.

One of the boys, who were standing in an alley nearby, dropped a hammer upon seeing an officer approach. One meter had been split open down the side and three others were marred and scared by the hammer blows, none was actually opened, reports said.

Both youths were charged with attempted theft, and criminal damage to property and were released to their parents, pending filing of juvenile petitions with the courts.

PANEL TRUCK STOLEN

The green 1985 Chevrolet panel truck of Charles Calvert, St. Louis, was stolen from a parking place at 22nd and Adams streets, he reported last week.

Wilson is president of Dixie Carriers, Inc., Houston, Tex., chairman of The American Waterways Operators, Inc., the national trade association representing the barge and towing industry and vice chairman of the Water Transport Association, a trade association representing ICC-certified carriers on the inland waterways in the coastwise and intercoastal trades and on the Great Lakes.

Wilson referred to a complaint mounted by several waterway users that traffic can be diverted for the waterways by manipulation of rail rates. A railroad can charge a shipper a lower rate for shipping freight to East Coast port facilities and a higher rate for shipments to river locations, Wilson contended. "In fact," said Wilson, "this discriminatory pricing practice was exercised by the railroads on export coal rates until last summer, when a complaint was filed before the ICC on behalf of the waterways industry against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway and the Norfolk and Western Railway. Caught with their hands in the cookie jar, the railroads dropped their rates to river ports."

Paul said he "just had to plead" with his parents, Charles and Lorraine Miskell.

Since the passage of the Staggers Act, the ICC has

Townships hear I-255 debate

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Interstate-255 was discussed by two local townships last week, with one deciding to wait before making a formal decision and the other deciding not to take a stance.

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees will discuss I-255 again at the Aug. 8 meeting, according to Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks, who has openly opposed the final proposed link of the interstate.

Chouteau trustees voted to study the proposal until the next meeting to give "everybody a chance to throw it out," Sparks said.

The Nameoki Township Board, after hearing arguments for and against the proposed 5.5-mile link, decided not to oppose or favor I-255. Although the board took a formal vote in deciding not to take a stance, Supervisor Harry Briggs said he believes the proposal involves "legal matters" which should be considered by attorneys and engineers.

The major concern among residents and trustees Monday is the possibility that drainage and flooding problems might increase if the final link of I-255 is constructed. Drainage and flooding is one of several arguments against the interstate given by opposition groups.

Larry Firkus of Save American Biotopes Essential Resources, an opposition group, previously argued to the trustees to pass a resolution against I-255. SABER and 14 individuals have filed a federal lawsuit to try and keep the state from acquiring land and constructing I-255.

Firkus said he was a bit disappointed that Nameoki Township didn't vote to oppose I-255, but he said he believes that public sentiment is against the highway.

It may have seemed that Firkus had an advantage when he presented the opposition view, as representatives from pro-I-255 groups didn't show up. But Wilber Engleke, a local landowner, had harsh words for Firkus and his opposition campaign. "My purpose here tonight is to try to straighten out the half-truths. And I mean half-truths," Engleke said.

He directly addressed Firkus when he said that two governmental entities shouldn't be fighting each other about I-255. Firkus works for the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District, which, according to an informational handbill he handed out, is against the proposed interstate.

The purpose of the district is "not to oppose highways," Engleke said, but rather to deal with soil and water samples. He further contended that the Madison County Farm Bureau — which also is listed in the handbill as opposing the interstate's construction — has not taken a formal stance.

Engleke is a member of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, which has formally supported I-255, and also is a member of the farm bureau.

As a farmer, Engleke said he knows that the farmland that will be taken for construction of the interstate is not "prime" land, as opposition groups claim.

He said that cash value, soil composition and productivity of the ground are considered when a classification is determined for farmland. "The farmers (who own the land) don't pay taxes on that farmland as prime farmland," he argued. "It's too compact to be prime."

About 457 acres will be taken out of production for I-255. The Illinois Department of Transportation claims that only 90 acres of that total are prime, but according to the handbill, the Madison County soil survey shows that all of the soils in the project area are prime.

The opinions of Engleke and Firkus differed on several other points as well. SABER has argued that population figures show a steady decline in communities that will potentially be affected by I-255, including Granite City where there has been a 9.5 percent decrease.

Firkus also cited a decrease in Alton's population and said that enrollment is down at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Engleke countered the population decreases in those communities by arguing that there have been increases in Maryville, Collinsville and Troy, which also will be affected by I-255.

He also suggested that there would be trouble in widening roads, because environmentalists would complain if highways like Routes 157, 159, 111, 203 and 3 should be improved before additional highways were built.

Firkus said Monday that IDOT does not do an adequate job of maintaining those existing roads. But for the residents and trustees of Nameoki Township, the major concern is possible flooding caused by the new interstate highway. Those opposing I-255 argue that IDOT has not made adequate provisions for drainage along the proposed final link, which has received appropriations of $90 million.

Gordon Gass, a farmer who will be particularly affected by I-255, said that studies show the water level will increase by three inches after the interstate is complete.

With five floods in the last year, Gass argued that the water level is so high now that three more inches could be disastrous to the farmland.

He said the only thing that has been promised is that ditches will be dug for drainage and a lift station will be constructed. But Gass said that the lift station would only back the water up and wouldn't offer proper controls for drainage.

IDOT, he said, has turned "a deaf ear" to the pleas of the people involved. He suggested that a canal be dug to the river that would ensure proper drainage from the highway. The canal, which he said studies have shown could be constructed for $80,000, should be 50 feet wide all the way from the American Bottoms to the Mississippi River.

Such a canal would control drainage, whereas a proposed holding pond would be ineffective, Gass argued. The pond and lift station would cost $10 million, he said.

E. "Zeke" Barton, a township resident, also argued against I-255 because of potential drainage problems. "Sure there will be a few jobs (with I-255 construction), but how much money is it going to cost us," he questioned. Supporters of I-255 say that construction of the highway will bring badly-needed jobs to the area.

Those opposing I-255 counter that just as many jobs would be created by improving existing roadways.

Barton and Trustee Helen Hawkins both argued that the jobs would be insignificant, compared to the potential problems. Also, there will be jobs, anyway, if the roadways are improved.

"Every time it rains three or four inches, we've got pumps coming out our windows to get rid of the water (in basements)," Barton said.

He also argued that cities would suffer because I-255 would bypass many communities, taking travelers away from, rather than through, them.

SABER also argues that local businesses will be hurt by I-255. It has been argued that local businesses and homes will move closer to I-255. Proponents, however, say that zoning procedures could eliminate a radical movement away from the cities.

They also contend that I-255 will remain a limited access highway, making it safer and more efficient than existing roadways.

Precautions against Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever urged

Two deaths attributed to Rocky Mountain spotted fever have been reported to the Illinois Department of Public Health this summer.

A 7-year-old Madison County boy died May 13, and a 13-year-old boy from Whiteside County died July 18.

In addition to the two fatalities, nine other cases of the disease have been reported so far this year — two in Madison County, three in Sangamon, and one each in Cumberland, Grundy, Christian and Williamson Counties.

According to William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, "Rocky Mountain spotted fever is a serious disease that is transmitted to humans by ticks which have fed on infected wild animals, such as rabbits, mice, chipmunks or squirrels."

Symptoms, which usually develop three to 14 days after the bite of an infected tick, include sudden onset of fever, muscle aches, headache and irritation of the eyes. Patients usually develop a rash on the hands, feet, arms and legs about three days after the symptoms begin. Prompt medical attention is essential and it is important that the patient tell the physician about any recent tick bites. Certain antibiotics are very effective in treating Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Persons planning to spend time this summer camping or hiking in areas that might be tick-infested can lessen the risk of contracting Rocky Mountain spotted fever by wearing long-sleeved clothing that fits tightly around the wrist and trousers that fit tightly around the ankles; wearing high boots, leggings or socks outside trouser legs; wearing a head covering and using liberal amounts of tick repellent.

Any of the commonly available insect repellents which contain either diethyltoluamide or dimethylphthalate are effective against ticks. The label should be checked to determine whether the insect repellent is an effective tick repellent or not.

Campers, hikers and outdoor workers should check their bodies and clothing several times each day for the presence of ticks. Children should be examined every three to four hours, especially around the scalp and back of the neck. Ticks seldom attach at once and rarely transmit infection until they have been attached for several hours.

A tick should be removed from the body with a pair of tweezers or with a piece of paper held between the fingers, by gently flipping the tick on its back, using its head as a fulcrum. Either of these methods of removal is preferable to using a lighted cigarette or hot match. Similar precautions should be used when removing ticks from pets.

Do not squash the tick, if it is infected, this could spread the disease. The best way to dispose of a tick is to flush it down the toilet or burn it in the campfire.

Anyone handling a tick should wash his or her hands thoroughly with soap and water. The wound should be cleaned with abundant amounts of soap and water.

Any of the common skin antiseptic solutions should then be applied to the tick wound. All tick bites should be cleaned and treated, as there is no way to distinguish the bite of an infected tick from a non-infected one.

Kempiners asked that physicians throughout Illinois report all cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever to the local or state health department.

Last year in Illinois, 15 cases of the disease occurred, and two died. In 1981, there were 14 cases and no deaths.

PLANNER TO DISCUSS SERVICES FOR AGED Phil Simon, planner and consultant, will be the guest speaker Tuesday at the Gerontology Resource Colloquia Series at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Simon will speak at 6:30 p.m. in Room 2407 of Building II. Discussion will focus on planning services for older people and developing resources to build facilities and continue on-going programs for the elderly.

Storm Friday downs trees, power lines

A sudden summer storm formed over the Quad-City area about 3 p.m. Friday, bringing heavy wind and rains and plunging temperatures 23 degrees, from 102 to 79 degrees.

Motorcycle crash kills St. Louisan

Fatalities were recorded Saturday in Kirkwood for Richard E. Deason, 32, St. Louis County, who was pronounced dead at 8:50 p.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after his motorcycle hit the Illinois Motorist Railroad overpass abutment on Illinois Route 203 south of Madison at 8:30 p.m.

A motorist told state police he saw the southbound motorcycle go out of control after swerving to miss an object in the roadway.

A graduate of St. Louis Country Day School and Vanderbilt University, Mr. Deason was coordinator of subscriber services for Wired Music, a St. Louis firm operated by his father, Earl Deason of Des Peres. Burial was in Creve Coeur. Survivors are his father, his stepmother, Connie, and his sister, Vicki, the latter of San Diego.

Births

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Medical Center include:

GIRLS:

Mr. and Mrs. James Blankenship, 2719 Anglin Drive, July 28, Laura Marie, 9 pounds, 4 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny McKee, 20 Tulip Ave., July 28, Cecilia Anne, 8 pounds, 3 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farrell Sr., 3305 Maplewood Homes, July 29, Wanda Mae, 7 pounds, 11 ounces.

BOYS:

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Nunn, 104 Hill St., Madison, July 28, Carlton Alexander, 7 pounds, 3 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brantley, 2831 Roosevelt Ave., July 30, Dustin Alan, 6 pounds, 13 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis, 2620 Center St., July 30, Thomas James, 9 pounds, 4 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Mullen, Troy, Ill., July 31, Christopher Benjamin, 7 pounds, 13 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Austin, St. Louis, July 31, no name, 8 pounds, 5 ounces.

Police, firefighters, street department workers and power company crews were kept busy with a rash wind-related calls. A power line fell on a house at Leonard and Marshall avenues and the fire department responded, but there was no fire. At 20th Street and Bryan Avenue, a tree fell on a truck and knocked out a power line, bringing Illinois Power Co. workers out.

Power lines also were reported down by 4:10 p.m. Friday at 2705 Roosevelt Ave., 2622 Denver St., and 20th Street and Madison Avenue.

Trees were reported in the street at 22nd Street and Illinois Avenue, in the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard, in the 2400 block of East 24th Street and elsewhere.

In Madison, a portion of the facing of a building at Third and State streets fell into the street. Streets flooded rapidly in the downtown and there were several auto accidents reported. Basements flooded in the 3900 block of Myrtle Avenue and the 4000 block of Buxton Avenue and water was reported gushing from a manhole at Leonard and Bryan avenues.

The storm ended about as rapidly as it began and the skies were clear by 5 p.m. in most areas. Portions of the St. Louis area reported no rain Friday, as the storm apparently formed near the Mississippi River.

Less severe summer storms developed in portions of the Quad-City area both Saturday and Sunday afternoons, but no damage was reported.

Disagree with 'Tar Wars' ruling

"Rule books. Rule books. You can't tell the plays without a rule book."

We needed one when American Baseball League President Lee MacPhail ruled that a home run hit with an illegal bat is not an illegal home run. Blazin' stars!

MacPhail said that umpires used the wrong rule when they ruled that pine tar above the allowable 18-inch mark on George Brett's bat nullified a Kansas City Royals' home run, called it an out and gave the New York Yankees the victory. MacPhail later reversed the decision, said the home run stands and left the game hanging, possibly to be finished at a later date.

The one thing that separated sports from real life was RULERS. If you were caught breaking the rules, you were punished according to the book.

MacPhail said Brett was not at fault, the bat was. It should have been thrown out of the game when it was first noticed that pine tar was above the 18-inch limit.

However, the first to notice it was sly old Billy Martin, Yankee coach, and he kept his mouth shut, keeping the 'ace in the hole' until he needed it. We think he was pretty smart and should have gotten away with it. The umpires didn't notice it until the home run was hit and Martin, with his usual flare, pointed out the offending bat.

Of course, the "Tar War," as Associated Press is calling the affair, sparked a great deal of debate. Our editorial staff tends to agree with Yankee owner George Steinbrenner that the ruling is "ridiculous." Our Sports Editor Alan Gerstenecker has his own thoughts on the incident. His views appear in his "Sports On the Run" column.

We feel debate is healthy and this ruling is bound to be debated for years to come. We just thought we'd give you both sides of the coin.

Prompt taxes reduce warrants

Borrowing has become so massive and so costly for Quad-City area governing bodies that taxpayers need to protect themselves as much as possible.

Along with urging the elected officials to spend prudently and to borrow as little as possible, real estate owners need to discourage the use of tax anticipation warrants by their boards and councils.

This can be done by getting tax payments quickly to local township tax collectors for forwarding to schools, cities, townships and other taxing agencies. The sooner the governmental groups get the funds, the less need they have to borrow to "tide them over" during the fund delay associated with the yearly tax cycle.

Granite City real estate taxes can be paid at the First Granite City National Bank, Granite City, Trust and Savings Bank, American Heritage Bank of Granite City, Colonial Bank of Granite City or City Hall.

Nameoki Township residents may pay at any of the four banks named above, at Madison County Federal Savings and Loan in Collinsville, or at the town office on Highway 162.

Venice Township property owners may pay their yearly taxes at the town office on Fifth Street in Madison.

Link one in 20 jobs to exports

Guest comment by State Comptroller Roland W. Burris—Few Illinois may think of our state as a big force in international trade. But Illinois products sent overseas add up to about $20 billion annually, almost double the size of the state government's general funds budget.

About 275,400 Illinois jobs are export-related—5.4 percent of the total work force or roughly one in every 20 jobs. A worldwide economic slump clearly is adding further woe to the national recession's grip on our state.

Topping the list of export-related jobs in Illinois, 47,900 workers produce $6 billion in non-electrical machinery for overseas use.

We are the nation's top exporter of farm products, particularly corn and soybeans. Overseas crop sales total nearly $3 billion a year.

The rising value of the U.S. dollar has made it cheaper for our overseas customers to buy from countries with softer currencies. Caterpillar Tractor has been defeated in its competition with Japan's Komatsu Ltd. because the weak Japanese yen means lower prices than America's.

Agricultural exports face the same problem. U.S. farm exports have been declining, with sharp dropoffs in buying by Europe, Russia and Latin America—a reversal of the pattern of the 1970s when our farm exports rose about 20 percent each year.

The overall U.S. merchandise trade deficit may widen from $35 billion in calendar year 1982 to $45 billion in 1983.

We need to reverse massive federal deficit growth and bring our nation's budget under control.

Both problems—existing debt and new debt—encourage high interest rates. These high rates, unfortunately, attract foreign investors—not customers—and tend to over-value the dollar.

Common-carrier gas pipelines

Should natural gas pipelines be designated as "common carriers"? We think so. The potential saving on consumers' 1984 costs is $7 billion to $10 billion, including $200 million in Illinois.

Citing a report by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners, Illinois Commerce Commission Chairman Philip O'Connor says regulatory proposals before Congress could alter the gloomy current outlook. The prospect is for ever-escalating gas prices, but that could change if pipelines no longer had monopoly status.

Federal law allows such companies to refuse to transport lower-cost gas purchased by utilities directly from producers. The Illinois commission's plan would require them to accept the lower-cost gas.

Looming in the background is the question of how fast the nation wants to go down the road toward total deregulation of gas prices. Regardless of how rapidly deregulation arrives, the NARUC study finds that—in any scenario—common carrier status would lead to lower prices than would prevail under monopoly status.

The hope is for up to 45 percent reductions in rates for residential customers in various areas, depending on the severity of their present market conditions.

Natural gas traditionally has been less expensive than oil for home heating.

What is taking place now is an effort to avoid frighteningly high future gas rates, by allowing market forces to apply enough downward pressure to keep gas prices competitive with oil.

Says life-saving ambulances deserve support

To the Editor:
When it comes to saving a life, what price can you put on it?

Your aldermen are considering the price zero. Can you imagine that? You pay your wages, but they have to have the people to have protection against losing your life.

Think about it. How many out there have already been helped by the Granite City ambulance service? Well, it's on the chopping block to be discontinued. The time they take to arrive, helped applied, the quickness and assistance to hospital maybe saved your life. To take that time span away is like saying your life isn't worth saving. What can you do? Call your alderman not to stop ambulance service today!

Believes churches should help in the heat

To the Editor:
Where are the churches? Here in Granite City, where they opened up their doors for the ones who don't have air conditioning, fans or food?

It would be nice if they would announce, "We have opened up our church doors to help the ones in need."

I have lived in this area 30 years and have never heard of a church helping out (in a heat emergency).

They take in plenty, but where does it go? What are we all doing? Sitting back and letting poor Larry Rice in St. Louis do all of our work?

Do any of your churches and ministers go over there and help him?

I'll keep my money and give it in person to the ones I know who need it.

If you people would wake up. Money that is going into some churches doesn't go back out to help Granite City and we need help right here. OK?

Contents sewer billing is sloppy

To the Editor:
I received a bill from the Madison County Sanitary Sewer Special Service Area No. one, showing that I had not paid my bill last month.

I called the office and was told by the bookkeeper that she had no record of me paying the bill. I have, an American Express money order receipt showing proof of payment.

I was then told that I should put a tracer on the money order, at a cost of $4 out of my own pocket.

The bookkeeper also said that several other people had the same problem this month.

In the past few months, I have, on several occasions, been billed late charges on the previous bills that I know were sent out before the due date. I don't want to mess with the hassle of arguing over $1.64, so I just paid it. This last incident is a bit too much to ignore.

I will keep my money and give it in person to the ones I know who need it.

Invitation to see the good OATH does daily

To the Editor:

I would like for you, the mortal healthy people of this world, to imagine yourself as a handicapped person, either from Cerebral Palsy, or MS or any other crippling disease. Let's say from early childhood. You can't play games like other children.

You are different from the others and they let you know it. You grow up to be an adult, you can't work, you have to depend on your parents or guardian to take care of you.

Imagine just sitting at home all the time bored, with nothing to do. No money to spend on something you want to buy. You feel helpless and useless. You feel as though you are a hindrance and a burden to those you love.

And then someone tells you of a place where people like yourself could work and make a little spending money. This place is called OATH: You go to OATH and look it over and talk to the people there. You watch the others working and think, "I could do that." At last you've found your place in the world.

You start to feel that your job is important, and it is. You are being productive. You don't feel helpless and useless anymore. You've something to look forward to.

Can you remember when you received your very first paycheck from your very first job? How proud you were. Well that's the way

OATH clients feel every week when they receive their paychecks.

If you can imagine yourself in these people's position, then stop and think what OATH means to its clients. They are proud of this place.

If you don't know what OATH is doing for these handicapped people, we invite you to come and see for yourself.

Praises Dr. Zevallos' skill and courage

To the Editor:

I am writing in regards to the picketing at SEMC and Hope Clinic because of Dr. Zevallos. I do not uphold abortion for myself, but others do have the right to a choice to depend on your parents or guardian to take care of you.

and caring man who is dedicated to his profession. He would much rather do the job as a professional than have a woman try to do it herself and maybe kill herself in the process.

Dr. Hector Zevallos is a very warm, compassionate opposition Dr. Zevallos has. I'm sure if one of his opponents' daughters became pregnant and was afraid to tell her parents, they would be glad to have a doctor like Dr. Zevallos around instead of some quack who didn't care what kind of job he did or worry about complications. The man has been through enough and I'm for letting him live his life the way he sees fit.

If SEMC takes him off staff because he stands on his principles, they are bigger fools than I thought.

INFURIATED ADULT

Praises SEMC's stand against abortions

To the Editor:

In regards to the article the Press-Record on July 25 on not changing their philosophy on the rule of abortions, the Bible reads, "thou shalt not kill." God hates sin.

What if their mothers were to think of abortions? Those that are doing it now wouldn't have had life either.

I raised three children and, after 20 years, God gave me another one. But never did I once think of abortion. She was a healthy baby and made my life happier.

God gave us life, and at the end, we will all pay for our sins and I wouldn't want abortion to pay for.

Let's all have our children as God gives them to us and praise Him for His goodness. Thanks to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for standing by their rules, they are bigger fools than I thought.

GRANITE HOUSEWIFE

Counseling could stop unwanted pregnancies

To the Editor:

I, for one, am getting a bit weary of the continued furor over Dr. Hector Zevallos and his clinic.

Has anyone stopped to think that, after all, he is only performing a service after the fact. It seems so one-sided, almost as if he is to be blamed for all the unwanted pregnancies of the women who request abortions.

Why can't we all just, for once, take the responsibility for our own actions instead of always blaming someone else. Perhaps, the answer would be to provide more education and counseling for all of these women before they conceive.

I believe it is worth a try and, surprisingly, the results might be — no unwanted pregnancies — no need for an abortion.

I do not wish to have my name printed in the paper, as I do not wish to be kidnapped or picketed.

Auto exhaust testing likely

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Details are still being negotiated but it appears probable that Madison County, St. Clair County and Chicago metropolitan area automobiles will be subjected to annual exhaust testing to help curb air pollutant emissions.

Future Illinois General Assembly action is involved, and the precise type of test program remains undecided. It will focus on carbon monoxide and ozone.

The five-year cost has been projected at $300 million. Testing is to begin in the mid-1980s, no later than 1987, officials say.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ruled in Washington last week that 11 states were in violation of the federal Clean Air Act—Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas and Nevada.

The 11 were described as subject to penalties because of failure to test autos in 15 specified urban areas. No sanctions were ordered, however.

On July 19, Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson conferred with U.S. EPA Administrator William Ruckelshaus and told him this state wanted to avoid a cutoff of highway, anti-pollution and construction funds and a ban on new industries. Ruckelshaus replied that car emission testing is essential.

Illinois environmental officials have opposed mandatory exhaust tests, noting that the transition to unleaded gasoline in motor vehicles already is reducing the pollution problem. But they now have reversed themselves and will cooperate with Uncle Sam.

Part of the controversy relates to abuses of the testing process in some states. How abuses can be avoided here and in the six-county Chicago area will be debated in Springfield after the current talks in Chicago and Washington.

Illinois EPA Director Richard Carlson says his agency is proceeding with emission test planning "not because it is environmentally necessary but because we have no choice." He adds that Illinois air has become progressively cleaner over the last decade.

In Missouri, St. Louis and Jefferson, St. Charles and St. Louis counties are affected. They are preparing for exhaust tests following signing of a new law by Gov. Christopher Bond this month.

The usual federal weapon, again being cited, is blockage of millions of dollars for road construction, installation of sewage treatment plants and financing of air purity projects.

Opponents of testing cite the cost and say that repairs and tune-ups sometimes are ordered unjustifiably, either by mistake or for profit.

Fifteen states currently test vehicles in 30 urban areas. Twenty-four other states are thought to have no severe air pollution, and the remaining 11 are being given 45 days in which to show evidence they are planning tailpipe inspections.

State concern over the new federal pressure escalated when it appeared that Illinois was being targeted for sanctions in the near future, and when it was noted that as much as $300 million in yearly road funds might be affected.

Both the Illinois and federal governments have increased their gasoline taxes this year to help hire contractors to do highway and street deterioration.

James Maloney, an Illinois EPA spokesman, says that even if legislators act quickly and appropriate test funds, the actual start of testing may not occur soon.

He visualizes Assembly action in the spring of 1984, with implementation 18 months later. In the meantime, there is speculation that the state may achieve compliance with federal air quality goals by then, without car inspections.

A tentative plan drawn up in 1979 calls for the state to contract with a private firm to handle all inspection arrangements, but this approach is now regarded as too costly.

Instead, Illinois may license garages and service stations to install and operate test equipment.

Emission testing in this state might be costlier than in Missouri because the latter state already has an auto safety inspection program to use as a foundation.

Missouri emission test costs are set at $4.50 per car each year; the 1979 Illinois planning called for a $13 annual fee. The national average is said to be about $10.

The late 1970s proposal called for emission testing here by January 1983 but the Illinois House of Representatives in 1980 overwhelmingly defeated it.

If enacted, an Illinois law on emissions is expected to make testing a requirement to obtain state license plates for passenger cars and light trucks.

Diesel-powered vehicles might be omitted from the test requirement.

The 1980 Illinois proposal exempted cars if they failed to comply after $100 had been spent for repairs.

Some national studies show that various testing centers often produced wrong or differing findings, compared to other nearby exhaust inspectors. In the repair work for certification nearly always totaled about $90 or $100, anyway.

Other studies have shown exhaust system repairs might average only $40, and that most cars might be found to need no adjustments at all.

Whether emission tests are "mandatory" under the Clean Air Act is a point about which Illinois and the U.S. still disagree, but it may become a moot point.

called attention to steadily improving air quality and proposed dropping the concept of auto inspections. The new initiative by the U.S. EPA amounts to formal rejection of that plan.

Negotiations between the state and U.S. will continue during August, with discussions centering on just how expensive an inspection program would need to be in order to satisfy federal standards.

One possible compromise might target older autos and exempt relatively new vehicles. In any case, Carlson says, Madison-St. Clair testing would be coordinated with inspections in the Missouri portion of this metropolitan area.

Billion spent on state roads

The state ended fiscal year 1983 with $70 million in the road fund, $7 million more than a year earlier.

Comptroller Roland W. Burris said total road revenues were $1,079 billion, $40 million or 3.8 percent higher than the previous year. It was the fourth consecutive year that total road fund revenues exceeded the $1 billion mark.

Federal highway aid in 1983 reached $442 million, up $16 million, and was the third highest federal total in the history of the road fund. Highway funding from state sources was $637 million, but $27 million of that was borrowed under the governor's discretionary authority and was repaid later in the fiscal year.

Burris said cash receipts from motor vehicle and operators' licenses declined by $4 million in the year. Spending rose to $1,072 billion, $92 million or 9.4 percent higher than the previous year. The 1983 spending level was the third highest in history.

"We are encouraging seniors who are having heat-related problems to request assistance from aging network staff in their area."

Older persons can receive assistance by contacting The Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging toll-free at 1-800-623-3559.

"The dangers caused by hot weather cannot be taken lightly," Director Blaser said. "Extreme heat can cause dangerous strain on an older person's body and may

- result in sickness or even death."
- She recommended that older persons keep cool in the hot weather by taking the following precautions:
- 1—Spend as much time as possible in shade surroundings, such as a cooler room in your home, an air conditioned shopping mall, senior center, public library or movie.
  - 2—Use air conditioning or fans.
  - 3—Take cool baths and showers.
  - 4—Wear lightweight, loose fitting clothing.
  - 5—Drink plenty of water.
  - 6—Slow down your physical activity.
  - 7—Avoid hot foods and heavy meals.
  - 8—Check with your doctor before increasing the amount of salt or potassium in your diet.
  - 9—Avoid drinking alcoholic beverages.

"Older persons should be particularly aware of the early signs caused by the hot weather," said Blaser. "Heat strokes can cause physical and mental changes. These changes are warning signs that your body is in danger. Most people feel hot and uncomfortable during the hot weather, and may notice a lack of energy or loss of appetite. These are mild signs and, unless they last a long time, there is no need to be alarmed."

Director Blaser said the more serious signs include dizziness, rapid heartbeat, flushed, nausea, throbbing headache, dry skin (no sweating), chest pain, great weakness, mental changes, loss of consciousness, vomiting and cramps.

"Individuals expressing such symptoms need to call in your doctor for medical help," she said.

Loses appeal to overturn sentence

Ben Urban, former Collinsville city attorney, has lost an effort to have his three-year prison term overturned.

Fifth Appellate Court justices ruled Thursday in Mount Vernon against Urban's appeal. The court said the sentence would hamper his ability to repay $146,788 stolen by forging signatures on fraudulent checks and bills of lading for truck overhauls cases at the Madison County Circuit Court.

Urban also cited health factors. But the justices said he would first have to withdraw his guilty plea before a review could be made of the validity of the sentence.

They also said he should have appealed within 30 days of his Feb. 28 sentencing hearing.

Although the charges against Urban were not actually withdrawn, he admitted signing names of judges, prosecutors and drivers to secure release of bond funds, which he pocketed.

Urban now has 21 days to ask that the ruling be reconsidered and 35 days to appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court. He has not yet begun the prison term.

FALL INTO DOOR

Economic development gains here

Economic development progress is occurring here and has the prospect of accelerating if Quad-Cityans, local businesses and community leaders concentrate on making it happen.

That is the view of James Pennekamp, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce executive vice-president for the past 24 months, who sees facilities and geographic factors here as excellent for attracting job growth.

He told Granite City Rotarians a key development tool is continually updated data on this community: "knowledge is the secret to success," he said. "The message can succeed because facts show that this area is ripe for growth, he said."

A positive attitude—not only by developers but by the local public—is important, Pennekamp asserted.

Although he sees the Chamber economic development program as the way to improve local prospects, the speaker called for coordination to utilize many other resources, including:

- City government, Madison County community development, on-job training programs, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, the Regional Commerce and Development Association and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

—Industrial site owners, including the Tri-Cities Regional Port, Illinois Power Co. and other utilities, Northgate and other industrial parks, Norfolk & Southern Railway and Terminal Railroad Association.

—Financing entities such as the Small Business Administration, municipal industrial revenue bonds, Urban Development Action Grants, the Southwestern Illinois Areawide Business Development Finance Corporation, and the Job Training Partnership Act, successor to the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Attraction of employers related to existing local industries remains a key goal. Pennekamp said, citing auto suppliers as an example.

Along with a 15-member committee aided by a fund established from private contributions, emphasis is placed on legislation, labor-management relations, small firms and related topics and activities, the club was told.

It was announced that next week's speaker will be the St. Louis airport director.

Rotary President Will Seim presided and Donald Partney introduced the speaker.

Past President Dean Mabry inducted as new members John Janco III, Product City Roofing, Inc. president, Dr. Frank Gornick, provost of the Granite City college center, and Edward Coligan of the Granite City Steel computer services department.

Higher state gas tax starts

Motorists who forgot to fill up their gasoline tanks to fill the weekend will find fuel a bit more expensive today as exactly 34 cents a gallon more.

The state gasoline tax increase, passed by the Illinois legislature June 30, began today, Aug. 1, and all of the increase is expected to be passed to customers.

The action raises the gasoline tax from 7 1/2 cents to 11 cents a gallon and will rise an additional penny in July, 1984, and yet another penny a year later. It is the first state hike on gasoline since 1971.

Diesel fuel rose six cents a gallon today due to the new state tax rate.

Locally, motorists have been paying about $1.12 to $1.15 for self-service regular gasoline and about $1.30 to $1.35 for unleaded gasoline for the past several weeks.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

Post Corporation's board of directors on Friday at Appleton, Wis., declared a quarterly dividend of 16 cents per share, payable Sept. 30 to shareholders of record Sept. 15. Post owns and operates newspapers, broadcast stations and commercial printing plants in nine states.

SHOOT PELLETS

Pellets were shot through a large plate glass window at a Mart store at 3655 N. Main St., an employee reported at 10 a.m. Saturday.

STRONGARM ROBBERY

Two gangster robbers took $100 from a 10-year-old North Street boy last week near the rear of a garage and after threatening to injure him.

Free basic reading course

Granite City Center (GCC) of Belleville Area College will offer free basic reading courses this fall.

The courses are designed for adults who have not completed high school. Topics to be covered include vocabulary, comprehension, study skills, arithmetic, map reading and survival skills. Students also are prepared for enrolling in GED (General Education Development) classes, which readies students to take the GED high school equivalency exam.

Classes will be held from 6:30 to 9:15 Tuesdays and Thursdays at GCC, 4650 Maryville Road, Granite City, for 16 weeks beginning the week of Aug. 1.

Students will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis and must phone to register. For information or to register, interested persons may call the Basic Education Department at the Belleville campus, 1-235-2700, extension 363.

Hurts arm in a washing machine

A $350,000 lawsuit has been filed today by a Granite City woman who received serious damage as the result of a washing machine accident.

The lawsuit was filed in Madison County on behalf of Deborah Holmes, 27, of Rock Road, against the Electric Company for serious injuries received as a result of being caught in her washing machine.

The lawsuit was filed by personal injury lawyer John E. Norton of Belleville, who said "her arm was so severely damaged that it was almost an amputation and she is very lucky to have her arm."

The lawsuit alleges that on July 31, 1981, the agitator continued to move after the door was opened and she became caught between the agitator and door seriously injuring her arm and causing severe permanent injuries.

NAMED IN WARRANTS

Kent D. Warren, 19, of 2303 Oak Ave., was booked last week on warrants alleging battery of a person and damage to an auto the previous week. He was taken to the St. Louis County Jail at 2200 block of Benton Street.

County will work out arrangements with those who can't pay mobile home taxes

By NANCY WELLS
of the Press-Record

Madison County residents who can't pay delinquent mobile home privilege tax bills should contact the county treasurer's office to set up a payment plan.

Assistant State's Attorney Sam Xanders told Madison County Township residents and officials last week that county officials are willing to help residents socked with delinquent taxes, some for as far back as 10 years.

Nameoki Township officials were concerned about residents on fixed incomes, particularly senior citizens, who wouldn't be able to pay the delinquent bills. But Xanders reassured the officials and five residents who came to the special meeting that "there is no hard and fast rule," for establishing payment plans.

Each case is being considered separately, he said, and Madison County Treasurer Michael "Mike" Henkhaus has said Xanders is in charge of collecting the delinquent taxes. Xanders explained that residents age 65 and older who receive social security or disability are eligible for a 30 percent credit on taxes by simply filling out a statement. Forms will be available at the Nameoki Township office.

"Take any credit you can get. I strongly encourage you to," Xanders told the residents.

The tax credit can be pro-rated back to the time the resident turned 65 or otherwise became eligible, he said.

For others, however, the county also is willing to work out an agreement, Xanders said, after Supervisor Harry Briggs mentioned the large number of unemployed residents in the township.

Some residents who owe delinquent mobile home taxes have been able to pay the full amount, he added, but he indicated that most people were trying to reach an agreement with the township.

An ordinance for enforcement of the tax that established an office for collection of delinquent payments was passed by the Madison County Board June 15. Until then, collection of the tax was erratic and enforcement of the state statute lax.

The tax was passed by the state legislature in 1972. Xanders said he couldn't explain exactly why the county had not previously enforced the tax. "Ask the county board," he said.

Other Illinois county collectors also have had problems enforcing the mobile home privilege tax. One of the problems is that many mobile home owners move frequently.

Although a permit is supposed to be obtained from the county clerk's office before a mobile home is moved, Xanders said that payment of the tax is necessary before a permit is issued.

He said that when the county's employment rate was high and jobs were plentiful, there were many transients in the area who moved here to work for a few months and then left.

Suits are expected to be filed soon against mobile home owners delinquent in their tax payments. And although most of them will end up in small claims court, county officials are determined to collect the delinquent tax.

The county could collect up to $700,000 in unpaid back taxes but, realistically, officials say they expect to collect less than the total. Thus far, about $50,000, plus interest payments, have been collected in delinquent taxes.

Charge DUI in accident

Scott A. LeMaster, 36, of 2724 Maryville Road, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol at 2:05 a.m. Sunday when he was taken into custody outside his home.

LeMaster allegedly was operating an auto that struck the rear of a vehicle belonging to Ricky Wall, 2324 Terminal Ave., which was parked outside his dwelling.

The impact shoved the Wall car into the front yard at 2328 Terminal with LeMaster's auto allegedly continuing on through yards at 2328 and 2332 Terminal before coming back to the roadway.

A description of the vehicle was broadcast and an officer reported seeing the car turn into Northridge from Maryville Road. LeMaster was arrested from the auto and is placed under arrest.

The state is asking that consumers be on the lookout for fraudulent home repair offers.

News Notes

The temperature reached 100 Thursday and 101 Friday.

The death rate from acute myeloid leukemia is four times the normal rate at the Shell Oil Co. Wood River refinery, where the company is studying the effects of working with benzene.

Using a hotline phone number that spells "bad weed," the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation and U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration are seeking sites where marijuana is grown in southwestern and southern Illinois.

Illinois prison inmates increased from 5,770 in April 1974 to 13,377 in July 1982. Parts of the new Sheridan and East Moline correctional centers are to be opened immediately, and the Dixon Springs and Hardin County work camps are to be expanded.

Residential telephone rates probably will double by 1986, the Federal Communications Commission chairman said Thursday.

The Illinois Commerce Commission approved, effective today, Illinois Bell's plan for new in-state WATS line and 800 service rates.

International Teamsters President Jackie Presser said Friday he will seek a merger of his union and the International Typographical Union.

The state is asking that consumers be on the lookout for fraudulent home repair offers.

The arrest by Granite City police took place in the 1400 block of State Street.

Key United Way months are near

Summer is ebbing away, despite 100-plus temperatures on seven recent days, and soon the fall months will be devoted to the annual campaign of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

Plans call for the 1983 drive kickoff breakfast to be held on Sept. 20. Executive Director Larry Miller is on leave of absence until Aug. 15.

Planning is being coordinated by Thomas Majewski, general chairman of the campaign and assistant works manager of the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City.

An active United Way role by American Steel leaders has become a tradition here, including in recent years Al P. Steinhauser, Mitchell B. Milonski and William P. Donovan.

Donovan is works manager of the ASP plant, which is on shutdown status due to the economic recession and the oversupply of railroad freight cars, for which the Granite City plant is a leading supplier of parts.

Majewski is a veteran of committee service and leadership posts in the local United Way. A fact sheet he has developed divides the $670,000 goal among four divisions, each headed by a campaign vice-chairman.

In industry, Fred Stienkuehler, $479,000, at 21.9 percent; private individuals and groups, Mrs. Linda Schermer, $65,000, at 12.8 percent; professionals, Dr. Felicia Koch, $66,000, at 13.2 percent; and government officials and employees, Terry Salem, $46,000, at 12.2 percent.

Although current employment locally does not indicate the goal should be as high as $670,000, it is necessary due to the increase in families needing help of various kinds, Majewski said at a planning session last week.

A method of attaining the goal will be strong emphasis on the concept of everyone pledging a half-hour's pay per month, he added.

Campaign costs are kept at a minimum, enabling more than 90 cents of each Tri-Cities U.W. dollar to go directly to the service and character-building agencies that serve the local community, Majewski concluded.

INJURED IN FIGHT

to actively support of the county's continued status.

The spokesman said Granite City received $325,000 in Community Development funds this year and is tentatively scheduled to receive about $550,000 in 1985 under the new changes. The gain would "not be all that much," considering the possible additional administrative costs for the city, ac-ording to the senator's representative.

The Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors has adopted a resolution requesting federal officials to take action on the HUD ruling, which also eliminates St. Clair County's eligibility.

"The county's administration of the program is much fairer," Gary Mackey, mayor of O'Fallon and council president, said. "Each city has access to (the) monies. This HUD ruling removes local control... and the cities and villages in the area will lose out."

The Community Development program has been in existence for seven years, providing funds for housing rehabilitation loans and grant water and sewer installation, surface drainage, parks and recreation, road and bridge construction and a variety of other capital improvement projects.

Paddlers edge Montclair; retain SWISA title

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Winning the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association diving championships is getting to be an annual event for the Paddlers' diving team of Granite City.

For the third straight year, Paddlers won the SWISA diving championships with 49 points. Montclair of Edwardsville took second with 43 points, and Gaslight of Collinsville was third with 32 points. The meet was held at the Paddlers' Swim Club.

Nervousness also comes with winning the title. Paddlers' coach Gayle McCormick, whose team won the title last year by four points, once again was nervous. After the meet, she was telling those associated with the meet she felt she was going to have a heart attack.

Nobody would have blamed her for being nervous. Once again, the SWISA championship went down to the final event, the girls 15-17 division.

Paddlers had a 44-39 lead over Montclair going into that event, but Montclair had a chance to win because it had two divers, Tracy Hrbek and Beth Parvill, capable of finishing high.

On the other hand, Paddlers only had one diver, Kathy Zeugin, in the event. Zeugin had to finish high for Paddlers to keep the title.

Zeugin lived up to expectations. Her 234.75 points were second only to Ellen Metzger of Gaslight, who scored 254.60 on her dives. Meanwhile, Hrbek and Parvill finished fourth and sixth respectively, and Montclair actually lost ground.

"The 15-17 girls diver were the critical dives of the meet," Mrs. McCormick said. "I wanted us to have a big lead going into that, which we did, and Kathy really had to have good dives for us to win since we only had one person in that division."

Although Zeugin's dives iced the title, Paddlers' four first place finishes in the younger age divisions were the foundation for the championship.

The most impressive of the victories was that of Heather Crane in the girls 13-14 age division. Her score of 190.96 was 20 points better than those of second place Larisa Meyer of Montclair.

"She didn't have a single bad dive. She's only 13, so she'll be back again next year. She's going to be an excellent diver in the years to come," Mrs. McCormick said.

In the 13-14 boys division, Michael McCormick was a surprise winner. McCormick, who had a weaker than normal regular season, came on strong in the finals.

"It was a surprise for Michael to win, because most of the good divers at the meet beat him in the regular season. He really worked hard this week and got some crucial dives for us," Mrs. McCormick said.

Jenny Baker, diving in the 10 and under girls division, easily won her division with 104.35 points. "She's going to be a fantastic diver in the years to come," Mrs. McCormick said.

Tom Senecyn was the other Paddler champion. His 118.45 performance was strong enough to edge Stefan Nitz of Gaslight, who scored 117.35 points.

"Tom's been doing an excellent job for us this year too. In fact, everyone's done a good job for us this season," Mrs. McCormick said.

Other finishers included Charlie Luehmann, second in the 15-17 boys division, Wendy Knollman, second in the 11-12 girls division, Larry Curry, fourth in the 10 and under boys, Tim Voyles, fifth in the 13-14 division, and Debbie McPherson, sixth in the 11-12 girls division.

With three straight championships under Paddlers' belts, there has to be a secret. Mrs. McCormick was quite willing to share the secret.

"All of the kids get along together, and they go out to have a good time and learn diving. You can't just force, force, force diving into them because they'll get tired of it. You have to have fun when you're diving," she said.

"Everyone one of our divers congratulate each other and pick each other up when they make a mistake. The team really pulls together for each other, and I think that's what makes us win," Mrs. McCormick said.

There are things Mrs. McCormick wants to improve upon prior to the start of next season. She would like some of the older girls to try diving next year to make Paddlers a strong team up and own the line-up. She is also having diving lessons this week for those interested.

But, she'll take this year's performance any time. "It's the kids you got to give the credit to, not me," she said. "I coached them, but they did the hard work and they deserve all the credit."

NOTES: Paddlers' swimming team will be going for its fourth straight SWISA championship Saturday at Alton's Summers Port pool. Races begin at 8:15 a.m.

Mrs. McCormick gave credit to the volunteers who helped with the meet. "Without them, this meet wouldn't have got off the ground. All I really did was sit there and coach," she said.

TEAM RESULTS

Paddlers 49, Montclair 43, Gaslight 32, Bellefontaine 24, Summers Port 12, Sunset Hills 11, Wedgewood 9, Summer Haven 6.

Paddlers' results

10 and under boys: 4. Larry Curry, 89.95.

Edwardsville Wins

GC, MAC fall in second round of Legion playoffs

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The Edwardsville Junior American Legion baseball team did what its senior legion counterpart couldn't. It won the playoff tournament Sunday afternoon with an 8-2 victory over Bethalto.

Last week Alton defeated Edwardsville to win the senior Legion North Division title. But Sunday, history wasn't going to repeat itself in the Junior League as the Edwardsville nine came away with a win at rain-soaked Hoppe Field.

Ironically, Edwardsville was seeded sixth going into the tournament. Only Bethalto, seeded third, of the top four teams which received first round byes made it through the second round.

Both the top seeds, Dupo and East St. Louis, first and second respectively, dropped second round games to Troy and Edwardsville.

Granite City, which was seeded fourth, had an equally difficult time in the second round, losing a 3-0 contest to Greenville.

The Quad-City's other representative in the league, the Mitchell Athletic Club sponsored nine, was probably the biggest surprise of the tournament.

MAC, seeded 10th going into the tournament, annihilated seventh seeded Belleville in the first round, 7-1. Sam Tate picked up the win for MAC.

In the second round, MAC gave Bethalto all it could handle. Tied at 2 apiece in the top of the fifth, Bethalto's Mark Schultz swatted a shot to deep center field.

The ball appeared to bounce over the fence—in fact the MAC's outfielders confirmed that—but the umpires awarded Schultz the four-bagger, saying the line shot cleared the 368 foot marker.

"That was the crushing blow," said stand-in Coach Maurice Burgess. "We had a good game going until then. Looking back that was the turning point. It was hard for our kids to get back up after that," Burgess said.

Bethalto went on to score twice that inning and yet another in the sixth inning.

MAC scored one in the sixth as Eric

Golf crossed the plate but it wasn't enough as Bethalto cruised to victory.

Victory is a word which hasn't been very common lately as far as the Granite City Junior Legion is concerned. GC's last win came on July 22 when it defeated last place East Alton.

In fact the loss to Greenville Saturday, a team they had defeated twice during the regular season, was its fourth consecutive.

Granite City had moments of greatness against Greenville, but just it appeared something was going to happen, things soured.

In the second inning, for instance, Tom Mosby reached on an infield hit and Jim Moulden swatted enough balls foul until he was eventually awarded a base on an error.

With runners on first and second, Matt Roe bunted beautifully down the third base line. It appeared he would have been safe, but the umpire called him out for stepping out of the batter's box.

"That was crazy," said Granite City Coach Kevin Sykes. "There's a ton of mud out there, there's no way that mud could even see a batter's box let alone know if someone stepped out of it."

Sykes had reason for argument. Afternoon downpours eradicated any hint of a batters box. But, still the umpire's decision remained. And Granite City's hopes of coming up with a run diminished.

As it turned out that was Granite City's last offensive inning of the big game. In all, Granite City managed just four hits. One each in the second, third, fifth and sixth innings.

Rod Sampson, Granite City's best hurler allowed just six hits, but one of these was a double by Dave Short which scored the game-winning run. Short, by the way, was the winning pitcher. A right-hander, his record improved to 7-5.

Defensively, both teams made fine plays, considering the condition of the field. Scott Grote made what was unquestionably the best defensive play of the game when he dove to his left pulling down a line drive by Jeff Brauns to avert a Greenville rally.

After the game, Sykes sat and reflected on the game and the season. "We had a good season," he said. "A lot better than last year's 8-16 season. We worked with the kids, we won some ballgames and we had some fun. That's what counts playing and having fun."

Granite City finished the season with a 14-9 league record. MAC concluded its season with a 7-17 record.

Martin, Steinbrenner (not that) are the problem

News flash... Professional baseball has hurdled another milestone. Or, for those who prefer a name-dropping headline, Billy Martin and George Steinbrenner have done it again. The pine tar incident in Yankee Stadium has finally come to an end. Think goodness! The whole thing was ridiculous from the very beginning.

Last week American League President Lee MacPhail was called in to settle the "Battle of the Bat" or as an Associated Press reporter cleverly called it "Tar Wars."

The incident involved two big names in baseball, George Brett of Kansas City Royals and pitcher Goose Gosage of the New York Yankees (and two others if you want include Martin and Steinbrenner, baseball's comic relief act of the last 10 years.)

fastball to no-man's land for a two-run home run to give Kansas City what appeared to be a 5-4 lead.

Brett ran the bases and was celebrating in the dugout when Martin stepped onto the field.

The Yankee skipper trudged out to the home plate umpire and not-so-politely reminded him of the 18-inch pine tar limit. Sure enough, after measuring the bat across the 17-inch home plate, it appeared the pine tar exceeded the limit. It was later measured to be about 19 inches.

Consequently, the home run was disallowed and Brett, after some ado, was ejected from the game, which was now over anyway.

That's the scenario.

Last Thursday, however, acting on the incident, MacPhail overruled the umpire's decision against Brett and reinstated Brett's homer and KC's 5-4 lead.

What about the rules you say?

Okay. First, consider George Brett. A lifetime .316 hitter, currently hitting .382. A team leader.

My point is, a guy with that kind of hitting power is not going to doctar a bat with pine tar or anything else for that matter. And certainly not pine tar, it's too easy to spot.

I'm sure Brett didn't go up the plate knowing the pine tar exceeded the 18-inch limit and thinking, "watch me hit one out of here with pine tar up the barrel of my bat." "C'mon."

Just one more thing. Pine tar or no pine tar, the way that ball took off, you can be rest assured that Brett hit the ball with more than 19 inches of the bat.

Anway, MacPhail reversed the umpire's decision and ruled in favor of Brett saying the umpire should have checked the bat before Brett entered the batter's box and ruled it illegal.

I agree with MacPhail.

After all, it's up to the umpires to periodically check the baseball for foreign substances to make sure a pitcher isn't throwing spit or grease balls isn't it? Sure it is.

To check a bat would be even less trouble.

One reason I think MacPhail ruled in Brett's favor was the fact that the incident involved pine tar.

*****

My point is, I venture to say 99 percent of all the bats in both the American and National Leagues have pine tar on them. It's a tool of the trade—like chalk to a school teacher or typewritter ribbons to journalists. All are potentially messy, but necessary instruments of the trade.

I honestly believe if the incident had happened anywhere but under the scrutiny of Yankee Stadium,

it wouldn't have gotten the media attention that it did. I'm not blaming the press, instead, Martin,

Steinbrenner and Craig Nettles, a convicted bat doctor, are to blame.

Martin thrives on media attention. Everything he does is a show. Everything from kicking dust on umpires to spitting chewing tobacco on an umpire's shoes. There's no room for that kind of behavior in baseball.

Martin's a washed out infielder seeking the attention he never got as a athlete.

Steinbrenner has done for the Yankees what

Charlie Finley did for Oakland A's. Need I say more?

And as for Nettles, well, misery loves company.

But looking to add Brett to the list of bat cheaters (of which Nettles is president) didn't work.

Sports on the Run

By Alan L. Gerstenecker

Just consider Martin and Steinbrenner for a moment. Can two guys who go on the record as hating each other turn around and be the best of friends let alone work with each other? Not only once but several times? For the record, Martin has been the Yankee manager three times. Twice being fired by Steinbrenner, the guy never seems to learn.

Not only has he been the manager of the Yankees three times, but he's been manager of the Minnesota Twins, the Detroit Tigers, the Texas Rangers and the Oakland Athletics. And each time he's been fired under considerable controversy.

Martin and Steinbrenner: Two peas in a pod. Maybe they deserve each other.

Personally, (and I think most people will agree) it would take just one incident with George Steinbrenner before I'd never look his way for another job.

Yep, Martin and Steinbrenner: Baseball with a comedy twist.

On a local note, it appears the Madison County Girls' Soccer Association is off to a fine start this fall.

Recently, the newly elected officers held a meeting which, if all indications are correct, may indicate the association is off to a banner year.

Last Monday evening, the Association discussed 11th grade play against Chicago area teams and how to better deal with soccer enthusiasts to the north purchasing net bags, erection of goal posts, rules clarification and new schedules.

It doesn't seem like they neglected anything.

Stephanie Yates and Richard Unger

Unger-Yates

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Yates of Casey, Ill., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Stephanie Ruth Yates to Richard Joseph Unger Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Unger of Granite City.

Miss Yates is a 1980 graduate of Casey High School and is presently attending Olivet Nazarene College in Kankakee, Ill., where she is a senior student majoring in Music Education. Her fiancé was graduated in 1980 from Granite City High School North and also is a senior student at Olivet College. He is majoring in chemistry.

They plan to be married on Aug. 6, and will reside in Kankakee.

Harlow-Studebaker

Miss Sally Studebaker, of Washington, D.C., a former Granite City resident, was married to Bryce N. Harlow, a former White House staff member, on July 26, at a private ceremony at Rock Springs Congregational Church, Arlington, Va.

The groom-elect was a top White House staff member for almost 11 years in the Eisenhower and Nixon administrations. The 66-year-old Oklahoma Cityan is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma.

Miss Studebaker was his secretary for 27 years and was with him in the White House and at Procter &

Gamble's Washington office, where he was vice-president for governmental relations. He has been semi-retired since 1973 because of suffering from asthmatic bronchitis.

The bride-to-be was a civilian employee in the Army at General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo after World War II, became secretary to President Eisenhower's military aide, General Robert Studebaker, and joined Harlow's White House office of legislative liaison in July 1956.

Attending the ceremony will be Miss Studebaker's two brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Studebaker of Bethany, Okla., and daughter Mrs. Sandra Greenwood and her daughter, Jennifer of Crystal Lake, Ill. and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Studebaker and daughter, Terry Sue of Collinsville.

Old Six Mile in parade project

The officers and board members of the Old Six Mile Historical Society met last week at the home of Mrs. Mary Jessee to formulate plans for the group's participation in the Labor Day parade. Several ideas for the float were discussed and it was agreed that members dressed in pioneer costumes will ride the float in the parade.

There will not be a regular meeting until Sept. 12 and thereafter the group will meet on the first Monday of each month. Meeting plans for the next year have been selected and beginning with September through January meetings will convene at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road and from February through June the sessions will be conducted at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Namoki Road. Both sites are accessible to handicapped persons, it was noted.

In other business, Loraine Bischoff reported on plans for the Antique Show and Sale set for Oct. 22-23. Most of the booth space has already been contracted and the quality of the show will be excellent, Mrs. Bischoff explained. Advance ticket sales will begin in September with prices set at $1.50 and $2 at the door on the day of the event, she added.

Vice-President Marguerite Lexow announced programs for the forthcoming year. In feature a speaker who shares his or her knowledge of local history and lore. A wide range of topics have been selected and will include, "Old Mitchell," "Granite City Reflections," "Indian Collections and Recollections," "Foreign Christmas Customs," and "The Old Country School."

The public is invited to attend the monthly meetings and the board will meet again in August, according to the president.

Roderick family hosts double celebration

Members of the Roderick family held a double celebration marking the 90th birthday of their mother, Mrs. Agnes Roderick, and the golden jubilee in the Order of Sisters of Charity of the In-earnate Ward of her eldest daughter, Sister Francis Gabriel.

The observance began with a 11:30 a.m. Mass at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church with the Rev. James Hanson, a nephew of Mrs. Roderick, serving as the celebrant.

All eight children of the honoree participated with Margaret Schiber and Oliver Roderick as readers, and Richard, Milford and James Roderick and Theresa Harding, gift bearers. Sister Gabriel read petitions and renewed her vows followed by lighting of Christ candle with her mother.

Other celebrants and guests were the Rev. Francis, Rev. Donovan, Rev. Pontie, Rev. Dineen. Servers included Brian Roderick, Jay Butler, and John Paul Roderick, and Ronnie Roderick was the banner bearer.

Immediately following the Mass a reception was held at the VFW Hall in Granite City. The reunion was the first gathering of Mrs. Roderick and her eight children one time in 42 years. Her husband, Al Roderick, died 30 years ago. There are also 22 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren in the family.

Out of town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Davis, College Station, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schmersahl, O'Fallon, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer, Hot Springs, Ark., Margaret Schiber, Grants Pass, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. Milford Roderick, Columbus, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. James Roderick, Manhattan Beach, Calif., Nick Turk, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Thornton, Godfrey, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. George Koesterer, Belleville, Sister Yvonne DeConia, Jefferson City, Mo., Rev. Donovan, St. Louis, Rev. Dineen, Grifton, Rev. Hanson, Elsburg, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stack, and Mrs. Stack of Highland, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Krus and Mrs. Kientzy, Bonne Terre, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Don Detters, St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanson, O'Fallon, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Abernathy, Wood River, Mrs. Nellie Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer, Irene Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Hanson, and Blanche McGraw, of Cadet and Potosi, Mo.

During the celebration weekend, Sister Francis visited with some of her eighth grade graduation classmates from Sacred Heart. She entered the convent in 1930 at Normandy, Mo., and took her first vows of profession on Aug. 15, 1933.

Her first mission was in Cicero, Ill., from 1934 to 1943, and in 1938 she made her final vows. From 1943 to 1949 she taught school in Old Mines, Mo., and in 1949 went to Ranger, Texas, where she was stationed until 1952. She received her degree at college and went to an all Mexican school in Marfa, Texas until 1955.

Sister Francis made her silver jubilee in San Antonio in 1958. After three years at Blessed Sacrament in St. Louis, and one year at the orphanage in Dallas Texas, the former resident gave up teaching and worked at the hospital in Paris, Texas, as a dietary supervisor from 1963 until 1978. During the 29 years of teaching she was a superior and principal for 15 years.

Mrs. Yencho is installed

Eta Chapter, Phi Tau Omega Sorority, installed officers for the 1983-84 year at a dinner meeting at Ginger Creek Restaurant in Edwardsville.

Those taking the oath of office, administered by Miss Martha Ruth Thomas, retiring vice-president, include: Mrs. Mary Evalyne Yencho, president; Mrs. Mary Lou Richeson, vice-president; Miss Eunice Hatscher, recording secretary; Miss Hilda Schroeder, social secretary; Miss Mary Hassler, treasurer; Mrs. Lois Hodge, scribe; Mrs. Dorothy Costello historian; and Miss Weddell, sergeant-at-arms.

After the ceremony a gift was presented to Miss Weddell, the retiring president, on behalf of the club members.

Mr. and Mrs. House marks anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey (Fern) House, 4716 Nameoki Road, celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary at their home and also entertained members of organ clubs during the afternoon and evening social event.

Attending were members of the Amateur Organ Association International, SIMAC, and Metro East Organ Club, who performed various selections on an organ provided by Burl Schmeisser of the National School of Music.

A medley of pop tunes, waltzes, and Latin music was performed by Betty Applegate, Francis Davis, and Mrs. Warren. The AARP Rhythm Band entertained with a special animated version of songs including "Aiey Cal" and "Oh Lord It's Hard to Be Humble." Guests dressed like flappers from the AARP Chapter danced the Charleston, and Mr. and Mrs. Art Lindner and Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Cox performed the waltz.

Don Clifton and the Country Gentlemen's Band furnished music for dancing on the remainder of the evening.

Early in the afternoon a pot luck dinner was served on the patio of the hosts home and later in the evening they received 100 guests and served cake and punch.

The party was also designed to celebrate the birthdays of Dorothy Bertrum, Bob Applegate, Glenn Applegate and Carolyn Belling.

Out of town guests were, Jim and Judy Whit of Midland, Texas, Bill and Kathryn Maynard of Williamsburg, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rowe of Burlington, Iowa, and from St. Louis, Collinsville and Edwardsville.

Mr. and Mrs. K. U. Moss

50th anniversary of former GC residents

Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. K. U. Moss who now reside in Shook, Mo., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a party given in the Shiloh Church Fellowship Hall, by their children.

Hosting the social event were Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Valerie Callender, and Jim Moss.

Beginning at 2 p.m. all guests assembled at the church to hear the honorees renew their vows with the Rev. C. M. O'Guin, the minister who married them, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss were united in marriage on June 21, 1933, in the parsonage of Rev. O'Guin in Nameoki.

Mrs. Verna Andrews, who attended Mrs. Moss as bridal attendant 50 years ago with the Moss children served as witnesses at the second service.

The guests of honor received many gifts and cards including a card from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

Among those attending from this area were, Rev. and Mrs. O'Guin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burns, Rusty A. Burns, Mrs. Cornelia Hommert and Joann Hommert, all of Madison, Ill., Mrs. Margaret Ruder of Glen Carbon, Jim Moss, Scott and Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. ## Flare-up between Venice mayor and policemen

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

A request from members of the Venice Police Department for a payroll change was firmly and loudly rejected by Mayor Tyrone Echols at last week's council meeting when the subject was introduced by Second Ward Alderman George Mangiaracino, chairman of the Venice Police Committee.

The proposal by officers, relayed through the committee chairman, sought to change pay periods to the 15th and 30th of each month. Currently, police department members get paid twice monthly on the 7th and 22nd.

No precise explanation for requesting the pay period change was offered at the meeting, either by Police Chief Farris Smith, nor by Sgt. Joseph Meehan, who was in the audience, and the proposal served only to spark an irate response from Mayor Echols. "We are not changing it ever again," he stated. "What difference does it make if you get paid on the 7th and 22nd or the 15th and the 30th? Tell me why?" he asked.

"I'm not going to carry Roseann (Roseann Koelker, comptroller) through that mess again (changing payroll dates)."

"We've done it before. It used to be on the 15th and the 30th and I can't see what difference it makes, as long as you get paid twice a month. If they could give me some logical reason, but they can't," he said.

Some response from the police officers present appeared to be related to holding back a week's pay, but no comments were made to clarify the request to the mayor's satisfaction when the men attempted to answer.

The exchange sparked some highly vocal comments from Mayor Echols, who stated, "It's been that way for four years (7th and 22nd).

and now I'm mayor you want to change it again.

"I'm getting tired of all the petty stuff going on. Some of them don't want to buy a city sticker (vehicle tax decal). If they don't (buy one), they'll get a ticket and if they don't pay the ticket (fine), they can get fired."

"I've heard that I don't need a secretary, saying that money could go into the police (budget)," the mayor continued.

"Mr. Chairman (speaking to Alderman Mangiaracino) I want to you have the police department come to the next meeting...every member of the department can be here," Mayor Echols stated firmly.

Several police officers have expressed dissatisfaction with the new city budget, approved at July 12 meeting, which failed to include any raises for city employees.

At that time, Mayor Echols had noted there were some employees who had been "bellyaching and complaining" and had remarked it was possible that disgruntled employees may not have jobs next year, should the city's tax base decline.

Venice police officers have not received a pay raise for the past six years. Additionally, the force is at a minimum personnel level, requiring some officers to work lengthy periods without any days off duty.

Many of the officers do take second jobs to keep up with rising costs and the expense of rearing families, it was learned.

Marc Mason wins modeling contest

A Granite City man earned the title of Mr. North America 1983, the top honor at the North American Pageant Systems Grand National Finals at the Holiday Convention Center, Louisville, Ky.

Marc Andrew Mason, the son of Metella B. Mason, 2243 Cleveland Blvd. Mason, 25, wants to become a professional model and enjoys painting, writing and reading as hobbies.

The title was achieved after hours of practice for the national competition. The event was the eighth annual contest conducted by NAPS with about 500 young people from the United States and Canada competing in either modeling, solo talent or group talent events.

Awards at the pageant totalled more than $40,000. Trophies, awards, gifts and scholarships to modeling schools and theatrical schools were included in the prize package. Winners in the 17 to 25 category received college scholarships totaling $1,000 and cash awards of $2,000 were given to some event winners.

Two TV shows, of which contestants were a part, where filmed at this year's contest. London Television Weekend show NAPS to film a documentary on children's competition in America. A film also was made for distribution to cable TV networks. PM Magazine covered the event and major American firms contributed by donating gifts to the contestants.

Marcia Goldenberg and Nancy Carson, both owners of New York City modeling agencies were among the judges at the pageant.

Buddy Davis to lead labor parade

The Tri-City Trades and Labor Council has unanimously selected Buddy W. Davis, United Steel Workers of America District 34 director, as its Labor Day Parade grand marshal.

The Labor Council also selected as co-chairmen for the event, Edwin Reiske, council president, and David J. Kins, president of the United Steel Workers of America Local 4804.

"We will have another successful parade with a bigger and better response," Reiske predicted. He hopes that all labor organizations take an active role in this year's Labor Day event.

The Labor Council has designated the parade theme as "Solidarity Day III." The parade route will be the same as last year, starting at the intersection of Edison and Niedringhaus avenues. Participants may use nearby parking lots to assemble.

The parade will proceed on from Niedringhaus Avenue to Madison Avenue and then go east to the route's conclusion at Granite City High School.

The Granite City High School band will again march in the parade. Bands from local labor organizations and fraternal organizations also will perform.

At the parade's conclusion, trophies will be awarded to winners in the traditional tug-of-war contest, which will involve competitions for both men and women.

Trophies will be awarded to the best theme float, the best marching unit and to the union judged to have the greatest percentage of members participating in the Labor Day event.

Judges will be the Rev. R.T. Shea, pastor of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church; the Rev. Don Piereson, pastor of Nameoki Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Dale Edwards, pastor of First Assembly of God Church.

Organizations wishing to join the Labor Day parade are being urged to contact Reiske or Kins at 877-4330 or 452-1130.

A breakdown of Madison's city budgets

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

After a review of the tentative budget for the city of Madison, the financial committee has accepted proposals to increase the Revenue Sharing Fund expenditures to include $7,500 for blacktopping of streets and alleys, increasing that fund total to $64,700; and $4,000 in salary hikes for police dispatchers, a total of $30,556 for the police department. It also was decided to add $4,500 to the legal department appropriation, which totals $21,300.

All adjustments were approved, along with the budget, the following night at a special city council meeting.

The general fund segment of the budget amounts to $1,250,334, a decline from the previous year's figure of $1,346,500. General fund appropriations follow in the 1982-83 figures in parentheses.

Police Department: salaries for chief, $22,500 (last year same); lieutenant of police, $19,138 (same); sergeants, $72,513 (same); patrolmen and probationary patrolmen, $90,000 (same); four desk clerks, $35,085 ($32,300 same); school crossing guard, $1,400 (same); and other costs relating to the operation of the department, including $20,000 for two police auto mobiles. The total appropriated for the department is $320,556.

Fire Department: salaries for fire chief, $1,200 (same); assistant chief, $1,000 (same); captain, $1,000 (same); lieutenant, $700 (same); volunteer members and cadets, $53,000 (same); and costs for operations for a department total amounting to $71,300.

Street and Alley Department: salaries superintendent of streets, $30,824 (same); monthly and hourly employees, $18,000 (same); and other costs of operation for a department total of $179,001.

Recycling department: foreman and monthly employees salary, $65,985 (same); operations amounting to $99,885 (includes a decrease for gasoline and oil from $14,000 last year to $12,500 for the coming year, and equipment fees last year were $45,000 as compared to $2,500 in the new budget).

Executive Department: salaries for liquor commissioner, $2,400; mayor, $11,400; secretary, $10,604; and supplies and other expenses for a department total of $33,299.

Legislative department: salaries for aldermen $113,000 ($113,000); for special meetings $450 ($1,500); aldermen miscellaneous expenses $15,000 (same), for a total budget of $25,750.

City clerk's department: salary, city clerk, $3,900 (same); car expense $1,200 (same); publications $600 ($800), for a department total of $5,900.

Legal Department: salaries for city attorney $8,400 (same); assistant attorney $4,200 (same); extra legal fees and expenses $7,000 ($5,000); legal secretary $1,200 (same); stationery and supplies $500 (same); for a total amount of $21,300.

The Health and Humane Department: budget remained the same with the salary for the health officer $3,600, and other expenses for a department total of $7,350.

Sewer Department: budget was less this year for a total of $18,072 as compared to the 1982-83 figure of $38,072. The difference was for a sewer cleaning machine lease or purchase for $80,000 in the previous year's budget.

Finance & Accounting Department: salaries for comptroller $22,500 (same); treasurer $3,000 (same), for a combined final amount with other expenses of $45,400 this year.

The Municipal Building Department: budget dropped from $35,877 for the previous year to $18,377 this year. The difference in total amount was the roof repairs for $15,000 in the 1982-83 budget.

The Building Inspection Department: budget remained almost the same, with $21,260 budgeted this year as compared to $21,510 last year.

The Police Commissioners' budget: remained the same with $4,150 budgeted, as did the Fire Hydrant & Water budget for $5,200, contingency fund for $30,000; elections $2,875; bridge operation, $2,000; police pension fund, $75,000; public library fund $36,650; Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, $1,400; and Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund $90,000.

Street lighting, gas and electricity: dropped this year to $67,000, compared to last year's figure of $71,000.

Also a decrease was realized in the insurance (hospital, health and life) with this year's figure of $49,250. Last year, $63,000 was spent for coverage.

The insurance fund for equipment liability, worker's compensation and unemployment: this year jumped to $65,000, up from last year's budget of $40,000.

The playground and recreation fund: totaled $38,949 this year, which includes salaries for the director of $17,619 and assistant director $3,600. Their salaries were the same last year, but with other expenses the total amount reached was $50,019.

The Revenue Sharing Fund: expects $64,700, down from the $138,200 budgeted the previous year.

The ambulance fund: jumped this year to $38,000, which includes $20,000 for salaries, and fees for gasoline, repairs to equipment, new equipment, supplies and other expenses.

Last year, the cost of service billings was $3,000.

Fire insurance: this year more than doubled with $15,000 set in the budget and last year the total was $7,000.

The shopping center project budget: dropped drastically from $328,000 in the previous fiscal year to $147,350 and for 1983-84 a total of $197,055 is appropriated.

The alarm system: last year listed cost amounting to $147,350 and for 1983-84 a total of $197,055 is appropriated.

Pre-School registration scheduled Tuesday Aug. 9

The Granite City Park District will have Pre-School registration on Tuesday, Aug. 9 at 9 a.m., at the Wilson Park Office. This is for children who will be four years old by the end of 1983 (born in 1979).

The cost for the Pre-School program is $30 per year for Park District residents and $40 per year for non-residents which must be paid at the time of registration. This eliminates the children having to bring 50 cents each day they attend.

Parents interested in enrolling their child in these classes must do so in person and present proof of residence. Anyone who works or is on vacation the day of registration can send the proper material for his child by a friend or neighbor. No person can enroll more than two children, however.

The Pre-School will begin the week of Sept. 12. Classes are limited to 30 children per class, and a choice of class days will be given at registration. The school meets at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, Franklin and Ames avenues, with each group attending twice a week, either morning or afternoon.

Anyone living out of the Granite City Park District will be placed on a waiting list and will be called in the order they are on the list.

One of the instructors for the Pre-School classes is Mrs. Lynn McClain, a certified teacher. For more information, call the Wilson Park Office, 877-3059.

BOY, 13, ON BIKE, HURT IN COLLISION

A bicyclist, John D. Jaros, 13, of 3337 Palm Ave. suffered injuries at 5 p.m. Thursday when the front of his bicycle collided with the left front of the auto of William French, 18, of 2647 Iowa St.

The 13-year-old was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. French, southbound on Perry Avenue, had halted at the Clark Avenue intersection; the bicycle was westbound on Clark and making a right turn.

Coordinated help for young parents sought

Improving services by identifying areas of concern is the goal of last week's meeting by the Governor's Task Force on Children.

A key element involves helping teenage parents with state programs.

The report, entitled "Investment in an Independent Future: An agenda for Children and Youth," was submitted by a 20-member panel named in 1982 to study children's services and ways they can be expanded within the financial resources of the state.

"We've presented our recommendations in a series of six steps for state government and a time frame for each initiative," said Task Force Co-Chairman Judy Block. "It is our hope that this report will further coordinate and increase the visibility of state services."

The Task Force said aid for parents of young families and for school dropouts should be emphasized.

Programs such as Parents' Too Soon, announced earlier this year, are considered a first step to combine the work of several state agencies and local governments to provide assistance to pregnant teenagers.

Other steps the panel urged the state government to take include:

1. Developing a plan to improve mental health services for children, a step that would be assisted by the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.

2. Recommending that the Illinois Commission on Children develop a plan that would coordinate state resources to support community-based services.

3. Providing continued care in Illinois for living away from home in foster homes, group homes, residential homes or schools and to work out final settlement arrangements.

4. Recommending that the Juvenile Division of the Department of Corrections work to pinpoint resources aimed at preventing violence to youths and by youths in Illinois.

5. Establishing an Office of Children and Youth within the executive branch of government, and administrative arm that would be responsible for developing a state plan for services to children and youth and would coordinate an annual conference on child care issues.

The Task Force worked closely with members of the Children's Policy Research Project at the University of Chicago, which released a report last week called "Children and the State," the second in a series of research reports on Illinois children.

Renewal time for farm leases

By RON CORNWELL
County Farm Adviser

August is a good time for tenants and landlords to review and renew their farm lease agreements.

Sept. 1 is the automatic renewal date for written leases with a six-month notice period on a March 1 lease year. September is also the automatic renewal time for unwritten year-to-year leases on a Jan. 1 calendar year basis.

Illinois law provides for a four-month minimum notice prior to the end of the current lease year to terminate oral or written farm leases. If the lease year begins March 1 on an oral lease, a notice must be given before Nov. 1.

Apart from legal notice periods, August is a good time to review all farm lease agreements.

If a change in tenants is required, now is the best time to give the required notice and to work out final settlement arrangements. The outgoing tenant will have more time to find other land and the landowners will have more time to find another operator.

Agreements on any fall farming operations, fall wheat seeding and reimbursement payment should also be worked out before the year becomes a misunderstanding.

This may be a good time to consider putting your lease agreement in writing. We have available at the county Cooperative Extension Service office copies of printed Illinois Farm Lease forms.

Vadalabene to chair penal subcommittee

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, has been named chairman of the Penal Subcommittee of the Legislative Committee on Public Safety. He will be joined by Sen. Richard F. Kelly, R-Chicago, as co-chairman.

"Given the serious problems facing our prisons, which are rapidly reaching a critical point, I consider it my important responsibility," Vadalabene said in commenting on the appointment.

"Recent Court decisions have put pressure on the governor and other state officials, but the status of our penal institutions affects us all."

"So I am honored by the confidence that Senator Kelly has shown me in making this assignment. The public has a right to the most enlightened legislative response to our problems," concluded Sen. Vadalabene. "I'm going to do my best to see that the interests of society and our citizens are protected," he concluded.

ARREST FOR HITTING TRAFFIC LIGHT UNIT

A multi-head traffic control light device was knocked down by a westbound car that crossed the southwest corner at 2:50 a.m. Friday on N. Edin Avenue.

The vehicle later turned north onto Delmar Avenue, potentially causing up to $7,500 damage, authorities said.

The vehicle later turned north onto Delmar Avenue, potentially causing up to $7,500 damage, authorities said.

John A. Thomas, 18, of 2412 Illinois Ave. was arrested at his home and was booked at 3:40 a.m. for failing to give information on the accident. His auto had front end damage, it was contended.

Religious programs and events at area churches

Christian Woman's Club to host fashion show

The Madison County Christian Women's Club will feature a Fall Fashion Show at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 9, at noon. The two-hour luncheon program will be held at Randy's Restaurant in Troy. Vicki Rutz of Vicky's and Sue Schwartz of The Junior Shoppe in Highland, will show you how to look smart and feel young whatever your age with fashions for fall, 1983.

Special music for the occasion will be presented by Kristan Freeman, junior high student from Highland, who has performed in musical productions at school, community and television.

Miss Betty Faquet, a national representative for Stencroft, and a former third grade teacher in Colorado, will be the guest inspirational speaker. The Madison County Christian Women's Club is part of an international organization which has over 2000 groups across the North American Continent. A unique feature of the groups is that there is no formal membership or dues. All women are invited to attend. The cost of the luncheon program is $3.85, payable at the door.

A free nursery for pre-schoolers will be provided at the Christian Fellowship Center (Church), located on the frontage road north of the Union 76 Truck Stop. Reservations for the luncheon and nursery are essential and can be made by calling Bonnie 288-7172, Joann 677-2995, or Betty 454-0091 by noon, Friday, Aug. 5th.

Troop Five holds Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop Five, sponsored by Nameki United Methodist Church, held its annual family picnic with approximately 55 people attending. The main purpose of the picnic was to recognize the boys' accomplishments from their recent stay at Camp Sunnen. Twelve scouts attended Camp Sunnen the last week of June accompanied by Scoutmaster Jack Dawson, Assistant Scoutmaster Mike Schuette and Advancement Chairman Gary McConnell. John Tucker achieved the scout rank and David Mompf advanced to the rank of Life Scout. The following merit badges were awarded: Mike Maier - mammals, leatherwork, environmental science, wilderness survival, small boat sailing, fish and wildlife management; Mike Schuette - mammals, environmental science, wilderness survival, small boat sailing, fish and wildlife management; Mike McConnell - cooking, canoeing, atomic energy, lifesaving; David Mompf - advanced camping, environmental science, mammals; Brian Forbes -

Women's Aglow to meet Aug. 4

Ruth Weeks of Litchfield, Ill., formerly of Granite City, will be the featured speaker at a meeting on Thursday, Aug. 4, of Women's Aglow Fellowship, Granite City Chapter.

The meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m. at the Western Sizzlin Steak House, 9501 Collinsville Road, Collinsville. Following the session lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m., according to the president. Mrs. Weeks and her husband, Don, are the parents of two children, and also have five grandchildren. She is the manager of Faith Book Shoppe, a non-profit Christian book store, in Litchfield. The guest speaker is a former recording secretary and president of the local chapter and has served as a leader of prayer and Bible study groups, ministered at nursing home, spoke at local coffeehouse and has been an outreach worker for youth.

Her topic will deal with problems of the teenage years for both young people and adults. Those attending are invited to bring a teenager, the president noted. No baby-sitting facility is available for this session, she added.

Navy Mothers donate funds

Quadrant Navy Mothers, Chapter 850, met at the VFW Hall, Thursday night, and agreed to donate funds to three separate groups. They sent $25 donations to both the Danville Naval Hospital and Great Lakes Naval Hospital and a $50 contribution to the Philadelphia Home Hospice. Hostesses for the social session were Clara Layton and Edna Miller. They awarded the mystery prize to Mrs. Hazel Jones and the special award to Mrs. Verna Spurrier.

Games were then played and prizes won by Mrs. Jones, Jean Teller, and Margaret Minzes. The next meeting on Aug. 11 will be a business session at the VFW Hall. Area women are invited to attend the meeting which convenes at 7:30 p.m.

Baptist programs planned for August

Madison County Baptist Association, with offices at 620 Engineer Road in Mitchell, announces events of interest planned for the month of August in the Quad-City area.

The initial program will be a training session of church appointed task force representatives scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 4, at Third Baptist Church, with Jim Donahue, stewardship director of MCBA, in charge.

Third Baptist, 2801 Grand Ave., will also host the Illinois Mission Advance banquet (IMA) on Aug. 22. A dinner-promotional session is to open at 6 p.m. Pastors, Woman's Missionary Directors, Brotherhood Directors and task force representatives from each church are expected to attend.

The purpose of the meeting will be both informational and inspirational and the guest speaker will be Bill Weedman, director of Missions Division, IB-SA. Materials will be distributed along with promotional suggestions.

A MCBA Board meeting will follow the banquet at 7 p.m., according to the announcement.

Madison County Baptist Association will celebrate 75 years of missions education and involvement for women and girls at an all day affair on Aug. 25 at the Second Baptist Church.

The Woman's Missionary Association, was organized in 1908 and will be accorded special honors during the program.

Henry H. Hall Jr., will speak at the morning session. He is a former church planter from the state of Washington and now serves as Minister of Music and Youth at Second Baptist.

Philip Cole, missionary to Liberia who is now home on leave, will be the featured speaker during the evening meeting.

Historical items will be exhibited during the day long project and lunch will be served by the host church. Past presidents and MCBA pastors and their wives along with former MCBA directors and wives are expected to attend, the 6 p.m. supper hour.

Series helps families cope with alcoholism

Every family experiences some form of tension. But the influence of alcohol on a family increases those tensions, often to the point of causing the family structure to disintegrate.

Talbot Hall, an alcohol and drug abuse treatment center located at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, offers a Family Education Series to help families deal with the effect alcoholism has on their lives. The series will meet on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. for four consecutive weeks. A new session begins each four weeks.

The program, which is directed at the entire family unit, will cover topics such as alcoholism recovery programs, relapse and the roles of the family members and enabling behaviors.

"This program," says Ginny Dellamano, program coordinator, "will also help prepare the people planning to enter the Family Care Program, which is a five-day out-patient program based on the treatment philosophy that alcoholism and chemical dependency are family illnesses."

The cost is $4 per person, per session, and sessions are held in the Talbot Hall lecture hall. Interested persons should contact Nancy Adams at 790-3989 to make reservations.

CHRISTIAN ACADEMY REGISTRATION OPEN
Registration for the forthcoming fall school term at Bethel Christian Academy, 1417 Herbert St., South Roxana, is now being accepted, according to Jean Malone, a representative of the academy.

Enrollment is for grades kindergarten through 12 and for more information those interested are advised to call 1-254-0181, she added.

Andrew Schwierjohn christened, honored

Andrew Michael Schwierjohn, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. David Schwierjohn, 3088 Wayne Ave., was christened July 17 at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

The two-month old boy was born May 25 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and weighed 8-pounds, 9-ounces. His brother, Denis, is 20 months old. Mrs. Schwierjohn is the former Irene Speece.

Following the christening, the baby was honored at a party given by his parents at their home. Dinner was served and presents were opened.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Karen) Schwierjohn, the baby's godparents, attended with their son Jeffrey.

Maternal grandparents, Geraldine Speece, paternal grandfather Carl Schwierjohn, and maternal great-grandmother Lorine Grill, also attended. The godparents and grandparents all are from Granite City.

Other relatives included Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Patsy) Williams, and sons Chris and Todd, of Granite City, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Mary) Speece of Madison, and daughters Katie and Kimberly.

Out-of-town relatives attending included Mr. and Mrs. Rick (Carol) French and their son Richie, Alton, and Mr. and Mrs. Kerene (Lili) Schwierjohn, Ferguson, Mo.

Friends attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hank (Sharon) Williams and their children Cathy, Pat and Rachel, Tim Smolar and Debbie Smith.

Gateway endorses rail-to-barge port facility
The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has given its endorsement to a rail-to-barge transfer facility for the Tri-City Regional Port here.

The $747,665 project involves constructing additional railroad tracks, ches, storage bins and pipeline at the port to expedite the transfer of coale grain from railroad cars to barges. About $98,132 in federal funds are sought in an Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant. The remainder is to be financed by the port district.

Church classes hold picnic

The Harmony and Concert Sunday School classes of Nidringhaus United Methodist Church hosted an indoor picnic in Wesley Hall during the weekend.

There were 56 members and guests attending the social event planned by Mr. and Mrs. John Lerch and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber. Entertainment for the evening was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Delton Groothuis and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber. Prizes were won by Betty Williams, Gladys Wallace, Liz Briggs, Ray Ascher, Carl Thomas, Gary Wolfe and John Metz.

During the evening Homer Huber showed slides of the Tri-City Regional Port.

Guests included Gloria Skushish and Louis and Jonathan Frick.

New Life Assembly welcomes minister

The Rev. Daniel J. Moore accepted the pastorate of New Life Assembly of Granite City, 1809 State St., in late June.

He and his wife, Patricia and daughter, Cindy, are lifelong residents of Illinois and previously lived in Collinsville.

Rev. Moore graduated from Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., on June 5 of this year. He extends an invitation to local residents to visit the church and participate in activities.

Man burned at SIUE in serious condition

Bill Richardson, 44, of Bend, was reported in serious condition at St. John's Mercy Medical Center in St. Louis, where he is recovering from burns received last week when a hot water line ruptured in a manhole where he was working on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Richardson reportedly received second and third degree burns over 80 percent of his body. He is an employee of France Mechanical Corp. of Edwardsville, which has a contract to repair water lines and manhole facilities at the university.

Richardson and another France employee, Jack Llewellyn of Wood River, were working at a manhole near the service road between the new Multipurpose Building and the parking lot

BELLEVEILLE PLANS FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

The Belleville Area Arts Council is planning its first juried fine arts festival to be held August 6 and 7. Professional artists and craftsmen in all fine arts media will display their work at the festival, which will be in the semi-mall of the downtown Belleville shopping area (East Main Street, from the Public Square to Charles Street).

Artist from 11 states have responded to the call to have their work juried. The two-day show will feature original oils and acrylics, graphics and drawings, sculpture, watercolors, photography, and crafts in fiber, clay, metal, glass and wood.

Times for the festival are 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday. In case of rain, the show will be held on the premises of Meyer Bros. Pontiac-Honda-Subaru located at Fourth Street and West Main in Downtown Belleville.

The Belleville Fine Arts Festival is sponsored by the Belleville Arts Council, in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Division of Tourism.

Low interest financing for new college graduates to buy a car

This year's college graduates just starting new jobs will find buying a 1983 car for easier than expected. Chevrolet Motor Division has just announced a new financing plan designed exclusively for new college graduates. The Chevrolet College Graduate Financing Plan will offer availability of credit, a low down payment, and attractive finance rates.

To qualify, students must graduate from a four-year, full-degree college or postgraduate program between January, 1983, and

June 30, 1984. They must have a verifiable commitment for employment, no derogatory credit history, and monthly payments in line with their financial capacity.

A new 1983 Chevrolet passenger car are eligible for this financing.

It is expected that this unusually low-cost financing plan will be well received by current college graduates. It will be available locally at Jack Matthews Chevrolet, Inc., 1511 Niedringhaus Ave.

GC unemployment climbs to 21.1%

The employment news for June was dismal, according to the Illinois Department of Labor's preliminary monthly report received Saturday.

Granite City's unemployment rose from 18.3 percent in May to 21.1 percent in June's preliminary figures, according to Velda Gerstenecker of the research and analysis division of the Bureau of Employment Security.

"Employment sector weakness, coupled with expected seasonal unemployment, recorded a significant upturn in the rate of unemployment," she said in her report.

The June rate in Granite City far surpasses the unemployment rate in other areas. Altogether unemployment of 18.1 percent in May and 17 percent in June, and East St. Louis 14.1 percent, or seven percent lower than Granite City's.

The overall unemployment rate for Madison County rose from 13.5 percent in May to 15 percent in June, the monthly report shows. Highest among the counties in the St. Louis Standard Metropolitan Statistical

Superman to fly no more

By JACK MARTIN

HOLLYWOOD — Great Caesar's ghost! Superman is throwing in the cape. After three stints as the Man of steel, Christopher Reeve says he no longer will fight for truth, justice and the American way — at least, not as the comic strip hero with whom the actor has been identified since the original flick in 1978. If there is a Superman IV on the horizon, someone else will be doing the flying.

"Look, I've flown, become evil, loved, stopped and turned the world backward," says Reeve. "I've faced my peers, I've befriended children and small animals and I've rescued cats from trees. What else is there left for Superman to do that hasn't been done?"

Reeve went on to say that his immediate career plans include a couple of movies and a stint in summer stock.

RETURN WITH US TO LIBERACE

A SHOCK OF WAVY HAIR, A BIG SMILE AND AN IMITATION LOUIS XIV CANDELABRA PROPELLED PIANIST WLADZIU VALENTINO LIBERACE TO RICHES AND STARDOM IN THE 1950S.

LIBERACE ATTRACTED ATTENTION PERFORMING LOCALLY OVER A LOS ANGELES TV STATION IN 1951. THE SHOW WENT NETWORK IN 1952 AND THE FOLLOWING YEAR HE STARRED IN A SYNDICATED SHOW THAT PROVED TO BE A BIG HIT.

THOUGH POPULAR WITH AUDIENCES, LIBERACE WAS OFTEN PUT DOWN HARD BY CRITICS. IN RESPONSE, HE CAME UP WITH THE CLASSIC QUOTE, "I CRIED ALL THE WAY TO THE BANK."
